

Kupina.me is a small and independent Publisher/Developer Studio for mobile apps created by a young group of Spanish people. We develop apps and games with Christian content. Currently all our products are translated into Spanish, English, Portuguese, German, Italian and Romanian (and soon to be in French).

Developer / Designer (Starling – Feathers)

Freelance-Remote

What are we looking for?

- For a new Project, we are looking for a Starling / Feathers experienced developer to start a game from scratch (aiming iOS and Android).
- The game will be a “Word Search” style game, in which the player needs to find certain words in a matrix of characters.

About the game:

- Word Search style with visual effects, particles, etc.
- Double IAP currency that will be used to purchase several objects within the game
- The player will complete levels (those will be unlocked with IA currency and/or completing previous levels).
- Other specifications will be provided in a complete technical document that the developer will need to follow.

Your skills:

- Experience with the Adobe Air Stack: ActionScript 3, Starling Engine and Feathers.
- Experience in game visual effects, particles, etc..
- Experience with game design, UI design, graphic design will be greatly appreciated
- Ability to transform project documentation, screenshots, mockups into a working game.
- Proactive worker, self-motivated, who is able to deliver quality products with little supervision.
- Ability to create clear and easy to understand code structure, that I will be able to use to add levels or extend functionality.

The developer won't need to worry about:

- Creating the packs with the levels.
- Communication with Facebook, Analytics, internal server or adding ANEs
- Localizing the game into several languages.
